Established in 1972, the University of Limerick (UL) is very future-oriented and was named University of the Year by Sunday Times Good University Guide in 2015 due to its leading position in graduate employability and rising academic performance. It is located at the shore of River Shannon close to the city center of Limerick. Limerick is Ireland's third largest city, with a population of over 100,000. Founded by the Vikings in the 9th century, it is one of Ireland's oldest cities, and has one of Ireland's most important archaeological sites, Lough Gur, where you can learn about Ireland's history dating back to 3000 BC. You can also explore the nearby sights of the impressive Rock of Cashel, Birr Castle or the beautiful Cliffs of Moher.
